

2025 NACD Spring Fly-In Sample Social Media Posts

Use or adapt these sample social media posts below to emphasize our advocacy messages and share your participation in NACD's 2025 Spring Fly-In on March 26.

 NOTE: Most Congress members will have two social media accounts, one for official business and one for campaigning. Tag their official accounts for these posts (this will usually have Rep or Sen in the username).*

If you only meet with staff and not the member themselves, you can say: "staff from @Rep/Sen's office," or "@Rep/Sen's policy team," or use their job title "@Rep/Sen's Legislative Director." Still tag the Congress member's account.

Sample General Post

- We're in Washington, D.C. talking with @Rep./Sen./Staff Member about how important America's voluntary, locally led conservation delivery system is for producers and the healthy soil and water we all depend on for our food, fiber, and fuel.

Sample Virtual Meeting Post

- It was great to have a call with @Rep./Sen./Staff Member today for the #NACDFlyIn! We talked about how conserving natural resources provides us with healthy soil and clean water here in State, and helps producers improve their bottom lines. We urge Congress to pass increased appropriations and a bipartisan Farm Bill that will fund and support producers and natural resources conservation through voluntary, locally led efforts.
- Thank you, to @Rep./Sen./Staff Member for virtually meeting with our group of conservation leaders during today's #NACDFlyIn. We welcome the opportunity to discuss the importance of conservation districts and voluntary, locally led conservation in State. We urge congress to fund conservation technical assistance through appropriations and a bipartisan Farm Bill for the protection of our natural resources.

Sample Impacts of Executive Actions Post

- Conservation Districts across the country are feeling the impacts of recent executive actions, placing a strain on producers, staff, and communities. Thank you, @Rep./Sen./Staff Member for taking time to hear our district's perspective during today's #NACDFlyIn. #conservationmatters

Sample Farm Bill and Appropriations Posts

- Thank you, to @Rep./Sen./Staff Member for meeting with our group of conservation leaders during the #NACDFlyIn to discuss the importance of conservation districts and voluntary, locally led conservation. We urge Congress to pass appropriations bills that provide strong funding Conservation Technical Assistance, supporting producers and the conservation of our nation's natural resources.
- We're in Washington, D.C., to share with @Rep./Sen./Staff Member about the importance of conservation districts and the work they are doing in State to get voluntary, locally led conservation practices on the ground. Passing appropriations bills and a Farm Bill that support conservation is critical to supporting producer and district efforts to protect natural resources. #NACDFlyIn #conservationmatters
- It was great to meet with @Rep./Sen./Staff Member today at the #NACDFlyIn! We talked about how conserving natural resources provides us with healthy soil and clean water while helping producers improve their bottom lines. We're calling on Congress to integrate conservation investments provided by the Inflation Reduction Act into the conservation title of the Farm Bill. These funds are crucial to supporting voluntary, locally led conservation efforts.

Sample Forestry and Wildfire Post

- More than half of forestland in the United States is privately owned and managed. Working with private owners and operators, #conservationdistricts play a key role in managing forest land across the country. Today at the #NACDFlyIn, we're talking with @Rep./Sen./Staff Member about the importance of providing land managers with the resources and tools needed to effectively manage forests under their care, and extending these resources to underserved communities, urban communities, and land managers who are currently unable to access federal programs.

Sample Wildlife Management Post

- For many animal species, private lands managed by America’s farmers, ranchers, and forest landowners comprise the majority of their native habitats. This makes voluntary, locally led conservation and restoration efforts on private lands critical to successful wildlife management. Today at the #NACDFlyIn, we’re meeting with @Rep./Sen./Staff Member and urging Congress to ensure that input from the public, conservation districts, and local and state governments are considered in wildlife management and the administration of the Endangered Species Act.
